

Human Flourishing

A movement, a mission, and a science.

WHY WE EXIST

Human Flourishing exists to advance human flourishing — not as an idea, but as a lived reality for individuals, communities, and civilization itself.

Every human being is born with the capacity to flourish. Helping far more of humanity realize that potential — within our lifetimes — is both possible and urgent. The conditions for thriving are increasingly understood — and we exist to bring that knowledge into honest, rigorous conversation across every perspective.

| Flourishing is not reserved for the few. It belongs to everyone — and it is within reach.

HOW WE WORK

Human Flourishing is both a Movement and a Mission. As a movement, we explore and articulate the global foundations of human flourishing. As a mission, we create pathways to the tools, communities, and practices that make flourishing real in daily life.

PART ONE

A Movement

At the heart of our work is The Human Flourishing Pledge — a shared declaration of commitment not to ideological alignment, but to honest inquiry, intellectual courage, and genuine respect across difference. Signing the Pledge is a public act: a statement that you are committed to the conditions that allow all of humanity to thrive, and that you are willing to engage seriously with others, including those who may see the world differently than you do.

Our horizon goal is one million pledge signatories drawn from every culture, perspective, and geography on earth. Not a list. A living community.

Human Flourishing is non-partisan by conviction, not by convenience. We exist to ask the the questions that matter — about economic freedom, governance, family, and community — with intellectual honesty and genuine respect for every voice at the table.

PART TWO

A Mission

Understanding what flourishing requires is only half the work. The other half is helping individual human beings actually achieve it. Human Flourishing partners with leading organizations working at the frontier of human development — providing pathways to the tools, communities, and practices that make flourishing real in daily life.

Our aim is not to rebuild what already exists. The world's best work on individual human development is already happening — our role is to connect people to this work, amplify it, and give the broader movement a public-facing home. The vision is an interconnected network capable of reaching people wherever they are, at any stage of their journey, to progress toward a genuinely flourishing life.

Four ways we advance the mission.

THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

Foundational essays following honest inquiry into hard questions about economic systems, governance, family, and institutional failure

CONVENINGS

Salons, forums, and public conversations where thoughtful people across social and economic perspectives engage seriously with what matters most

PUBLISHING

Capturing and sharing insights from those conversations, building a public record of rigorous cross-ideological inquiry

PARTNERSHIPS

Connecting people to the world's leading organizations in human development, amplifying their work and creating pathways from understanding flourishing to living it

WHAT WE BELIEVE — THE SEVEN PILLARS OF HUMAN FLOURISHING

◆ Flourishing is a science.

The conditions for thriving are universal, measurable, and teachable.

◆ Fear and love are the deepest drivers.

The choice between them shapes everything — individually and collectively.

◆ Economic freedom elevates humanity.

When people are free to create, exchange, and cooperate, human beings rise. The alleviation of poverty is not charity — it is the foundation of everything else.

◆ Governance matters profoundly.

Accountable institutions and protected freedoms are the foundation on which flourishing is built.

◆ Family and community are foundational.

Children and societies thrive in stable, trusting relationships and accountable institutions.

◆ Ancient wisdom and modern science converge.

What they agree on — across cultures and centuries — is worth taking seriously.

◆ Questions that matter are essential.

Honest inquiry across difference is both how we learn and what we model.

The door is open. We are building something worth finding.
